Description:

Astounding Stories of Super Science Volume 13 January 1931 is a captivating collection of science fiction stories that explore the extraordinary possibilities of science and technology. These tales, written by some of the most renowned authors of the Golden Age of Science Fiction, will transport you to uncharted territories, where time travel, teleportation, and other wonders of science become reality.

In "The Time Stream" by Eando Binder, a scientist discovers a way to travel through time, but soon learns that altering the past can have unforeseen consequences. "The Tides of Time" by John W. Campbell, Jr. explores the concept of parallel universes, where different choices lead to vastly different outcomes. A. Hyatt Verrill's "The Man from the Past" tells the tale of a man who travels back in time to prevent a tragedy, only to find that his actions have unexpected repercussions.

Seabury Quinn's "The Invisible Ray" introduces a scientist who develops a device that can render objects invisible, leading to both wonder and danger. John Russell Fearn's "The Master of Time" delves into the complexities of time travel and the moral dilemmas it presents. And in H.G. Wells' classic "The Time Machine," a Victorian inventor journeys through the distant future, witnessing both the triumphs and horrors that lie ahead.

Astounding Stories of Super Science Volume 13 January 1931 is a must-read for fans of classic science fiction. These timeless tales will spark your imagination, challenge your perceptions, and leave you wondering about the boundless possibilities of the future.
