A Passion for Languages

From a young age, Frank was fascinated by foreign languages. He loved the way they sounded, the way they unlocked new worlds, and the way they connected him with people from different cultures.

As he grew older, Frank's passion for languages only intensified. He studied French in high school and college, and later went on to learn Spanish, Italian, and German. He even spent time living abroad, immersing himself in the local languages and cultures.

The Dial and Talk Method

Through his travels and language learning experiences, Frank developed his own unique method for learning foreign languages called the "Dial and Talk" method.

The Dial and Talk method is based on the idea that the best way to learn a language is to start speaking it right away. By immersing yourself in a foreign language environment and speaking with native speakers, you can quickly acquire fluency and confidence.

Travels and Triumphs

In Dial and Talk Foreign at Once, Frank takes you on a journey through his language learning adventures. He shares stories of his travels to France, Spain, Italy, Germany, and beyond.
