Sexual violence is a pervasive problem in our society, affecting people of all ages, genders, and backgrounds. One in four women and one in six men will experience sexual violence in their lifetime. The consequences of sexual violence are devastating, both for the individual and for society as a whole.

We can no longer afford to ignore the problem of sexual violence. We need to take action to create a sexually safer world. This book is a comprehensive guide for parents, educators, and activists who want to make a difference.

In this book, you will learn:

- The different types of sexual violence and how to recognize them
- The risk factors for sexual violence and how to reduce them
- How to talk to children about sex and sexuality
- How to teach children about consent and boundaries
- How to respond to sexual violence if it happens
- How to advocate for policies and programs that prevent sexual violence

This book is essential reading for anyone who wants to create a sexually safer world. By working together, we can make a difference.
