The Birth of the American Made Music Series

The Drink House is a historic tavern located in the heart of Nashville, Tennessee. For over a century, it has been a gathering place for musicians, songwriters, and music lovers from all walks of life. It was here that the idea for the American Made Music Series was born.

Inspired by the countless stories and songs that have been shared within the walls of The Drink House, the series creators set out to document the rich history of American music. They interviewed legendary musicians, music historians, and cultural experts to create a comprehensive and engaging narrative.

A Multimedia Experience

The American Made Music Series is more than just a book. It's a multimedia experience that includes a 10-part documentary series, an interactive website, and a companion album. The documentary series brings the stories to life with stunning visuals, archival footage, and intimate interviews.

The interactive website offers an immersive journey into the world of American music, with timelines, maps, and interactive features that allow users to explore the history and influences behind different genres and artists.

The companion album features exclusive recordings and rare tracks from some of the biggest names in American music, including Bob Dylan, Johnny Cash, Aretha Franklin, and Willie Nelson.
