The Historical Roots of the Holocaust

The Holocaust did not happen in a vacuum. It was the culmination of centuries of antisemitism and racism. The Nazis used these prejudices to justify their extermination of the Jewish people.

In the years leading up to the Holocaust, the Nazis used propaganda to spread hatred of Jews. They portrayed Jews as a threat to Germany and to the world. They also passed laws that discriminated against Jews, restricting their rights and freedoms.

In 1933, the Nazis came to power in Germany. They quickly began to implement their plans for the extermination of the Jews. In 1941, they launched Operation Barbarossa, the invasion of the Soviet Union. The Nazis and their collaborators murdered millions of Jews in the occupied territories.

In 1942, the Nazis began deporting Jews to death camps. The largest and most notorious of these camps was Auschwitz-Birkenau. At Auschwitz, the Nazis murdered over one million Jews.

The Holocaust ended in 1945 with the defeat of Nazi Germany. However, the legacy of the Holocaust continues to this day.
